

About Jilin University: A Comprehensive National University

September 2026 | Read time: about 3 minutes

Founded in 1946, Jilin University is a national key comprehensive university in Changchun, Northeast China, under the direct administration of the Ministry of Education.

A university with national recognition

Jilin University was included in China's Project 211 and Project 985 initiatives and is among the first universities selected for Double First-Class development. It spans medicine, engineering, science, humanities, social sciences, agriculture and other fields.

Jilin University in numbers

1946	Year founded
48	Teaching units
7	Campuses across six locations in Changchun
42,601	Undergraduate students
6,289	Full-time teachers
20	Fields within the ESI global top 1%

Campus and student experience

The university operates across seven campuses in six locations in Changchun, so the day-to-day student experience depends on the school and programme. Its schools combine undergraduate teaching with graduate education and research, giving students a broad academic setting in which to develop their interests.

What international applicants should know

The full range of JLU disciplines is larger than the selection currently open to international students. Applicants should start with the programme catalogue for the relevant year, compare options, and then confirm final requirements through the university.

Programme availability, fees and deadlines can change each year. Please confirm final details with the university or write to study@jilinuniversity.cn before applying.